ASSEMBLY THREATENS SENATE

NO MONEY FOR UNIVERSITY IF DAHL TAX FAILS

Lower House Warns Senate It Must Raise Money By Income Taxes

FAIL TO ALARM SENATORS

Assembly Resolution Sings Praises Of Governor Blaine

By Associated Press

Madison—The assembly served notice on the senate Tuesday that unless it provides for financing the University of Wisconsin and the nine Wisconsin normal schools by income taxes, it will kill appropriation bills for those institutions.

This threat was made with the adoption of a resolution by Assemblyman John Gamber which "expresses to the senate the assembly determination not to vote an appropriation for the higher educational institutions unless financed by income taxes."

INJURY RATHER THAN AID
Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, Janesville, declared that by sending a threat to the senate telling that body that it either must pass the Dahl general income tax bill Wednesday or adopt amendments to large appropriations, it expects to have appropriations voted for educational institutions, was going to injure rather than aid the cause the assembly was trying to help.

The fact that the appropriations to these institutions is continuing, means that failure of the lower house to vote new appropriations will cause the appropriation for the past two years to be effective.

FARMERS NEAR RUIN

The resolution adopted by the assembly sets out that "through war and post-war profiteering, trust manipulations, and a tax dodging, the farmers have been deprived of a just return for their labor and of a fair and equitable share of taxation, has brought them to the brink of ruin."

It charges Governor Blaine, "recognizing these conditions, has advocated a change in the tax policy of the state so that every citizen shall pay taxes according to his means and ability to pay, and that the assembly has accepted this policy by passing the Dahl bill."

The resolution then tells the senate that the assembly, "not as a Red ultimatum but as an earnest appeal, calls upon and urges the senate to give the farmers of this state a square deal in the matter of taxation, and expresses to the senate its determination not to vote any appropriations for the higher educational institutions unless financed by income taxes."

TENTATIVE PLAN

The appropriation bill for Wisconsin's nine normal schools has been tentatively agreed upon by a joint committee on finance of the legislature it was learned Tuesday. The measure carried a grant of funds nearly $150,000 over two years ago, but several hundred thousand dollars less than requested by the schools, members of the committee said.

Oshkosh is reported to be the only school to receive a report favoring funds for construction of a new building. The committee is said to have recommended $125,000 for a building at that institution.

A tuition fee of $80 for out-of-state students attending Wisconsin normal schools was recommended. This is said by committee members to affect LaCrosse and Superior particularly. The committee cut grants for salaries to a point where it believes that the normal schools will be able to pay an increase for all instructors, will be made impossible. It expressed opposition to this policy.

Members of the committee said that all action was taken on the basis of two year normal school courses, rather than four year courses as planned by the normal regents. Disfavor was shown toward instituting four year courses, according to committee men.

LYNCHINGS DROP TO 11 IN FIRST SIX MONTHS

By Associated Press

New York—Lynchings dropped the first six months of 1923 during the eleven, as compared with thirty-three for the same period in 1922, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced Monday. The decrease was attributed to agitation for a federal anti-lynching law, to the northward migration of Negroes and the consequent desire to retain Negro labor in the south.

Florida had three lynchings, Georgia two, and Arkansas, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri and Texas one each the association said.

Brooklyn "L" Crash Caused By Negligence

By Associated Press

New York—Seven dead and more than eighty injured was the toll in the wreck on the Fifth-ave Brooklyn line of the Brooklyn-Manhattan elevated Monday when two coaches jumped the track and plunged to the street from the elevated structure. Six of those killed were women. The man has not been identified.

"What caused the train to leave the track is still a mystery and may remain so," said the district attorney in announcing his intention to push an immediate grand jury investigation. "But this much is certain, the condition of the guard beams laid for the purpose of keeping in check derailed trains gives unmistakable proof of culpable negligence in the upkeep of the road."

BLAINE SIGNS TITUS MEASURE FOR FORESTS

Executive Vetoes Bill Requiring Licenses For Street Vendors

Madison—Governor Blaine Tuesday signed a bill by Senator W. A. Titus, Fond du Lac, providing for submission to the people of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit the state to incur an additional debt amounting to two tenths of one mill for reforestation purposes.

Two sessions of the legislature have approved of the proposed amendment, which will now be voted on by the people at the November, 1924 election.

HANSEN BILL VETOED

A bill by Assemblyman C. E. Hansen, requiring all persons vending articles on streets to first acquire a license, was vetoed by Governor Blaine Tuesday. The governor said that this law would mean "That those who are engaged in the laudable enterprise of setting up a lemonade stand on the street corner on the national holidays and festival days, must pay $10 for the privilege."

"The executive is unwilling to take the responsibility for this legislation."

BUILDINGS LIMITED

The Olsen bill, limiting the height of office buildings and hotels in Wisconsin cities, was finally passed by the assembly Tuesday, under suspension of rules, and messaged to the senate. The vote was 42 to 19. Under the bill, Milwaukee buildings are limited to 125 feet, and in other cities to 100 feet.

Villagers Between Ogden And Salt Lake City Cheer Alaskan Party On Its Way

By Associated Press

Ogden Utah—President Harding and his Alaska board party arrived in Ogden at 2:45 o'clock Tuesday morning and 15 minutes later left by automobile for Salt Lake City.

CONTINUOUS OVATION

Salt Lake City, Utah—President and Mrs. Harding and their party arrived in Salt Lake City for a twelve hour visit shortly before noon Tuesday after an automobile ride down from Ogden, through fertile valleys lying between snow-capped mountain ranges.

The chief executive, accompanied by Governor Mahony and Senators Smoot and King, was given an almost continuous ovation during the forty mile ride, hundreds gathering in almost every little town and along the country side to cheer, wave flags, and often to throw rice in the pathway of the Presidential automobile.

Invite Valley To Inspect Hospital After Dedication

New Structure Will Be Formally Dedicated By Bishop Paul P. Rhode Next Tuesday Afternoon

St. Elizabeth hospital will be dedicated on Tuesday, July 3. The building will be open for inspection all day Wednesday, July 4 and some of the patients now in the old hospital building will be moved into the new on Thursday. Within a short time after the patients have been moved into the new building, the second floor of the present quarters will be ready for occupancy by the new obstetrical department. No training school for nurses will be opened in connection with the hospital at this time and only in the future if it becomes necessary to train nurses here.

The formal and public dedication program for the new building has been scheduled for 1:30 Tuesday afternoon. The Rt. Rev. Paul P. Rhode, bishop of the Green Bay Catholic diocese, will be the principal speaker on the program. The speeches will be short and will be followed by an inspection of the building. Members of St. Elizabeth club will assist with the reception and will be stationed in the building to act as guides for those making the inspection. The program is under the direction of John Conway, who is chairman of the building committee and was appointed as program chairman by that committee.

EVERYBODY INVITED
No special invitations are being issued to organizations or individuals for the dedication program, but a general invitation to every man and woman in the Fox river valley to be present and to make an inspection of the new building is extended by the building committee and the sisters in charge of the hospital. It is expected that literally thousands of people will go through the building after the program, but for the convenience of those who cannot be present Tuesday, the building will be open for inspection from 9 to 12 and 1 to 6 on July 4.

Mother M. Casimir, provincial mother of the order of St. Francis in the United States is at the hospital now, assisting Mother Vita and her staff with the preparations for the dedication. The ceremonies will begin Tuesday morning with a solemn high mass in the beautiful new chapel which has just been completed. Further ceremonies for the hospital staff and visiting clergy will take place during the morning and will be followed by a dinner for the clergy guests.

BRITAIN PLANNING STRONG AIR FORCE

England Will Have Enough Squadrons To Beat Off Strongest Possible Attack

London — Prime Minister Baldwin announced in the house of commons Tuesday afternoon that the government had decided to establish a home defense air force sufficiently strong to defend the country adequately from attack by the strongest air force with in striking distance.

The premier said the home defense force would consist of 52 squadrons. This would add 34 squadrons to the authorized strength of the Royal Air Force.

The force, continued the premier, would be organized partly on a permanent military basis, and partly on a territorial or reserve basis.

HARDING DENIES HE IS TO LEAVE MARION HOME

By Associated Press

Marion, O. — Explicit denial was made Monday by President Harding that he intends to sever his relations with Marion as a citizen. The following telegram received by George H. Van Fleet, editor of the Star, says: "I note in the press statements that my sale of a controlling interest in the Star means the severance of my relations with Marion as a citizen. Please publish an explicit denial. Such an announcement is of no particular interest to anybody excepting my life-long friends of Marion and myself, but I do wish it understood at home that I have never entertained a thought of changing my residence. The ties of a lifetime are not so easily severed."

12,535 Boston Hello Girls Go On Wage Strike

By Associated Press

Boston—Telephone operators went on strike Tuesday in all the New England states except Connecticut. The strike was called by one union for shorter hours and higher wages. Members of a rival union remained at work.

Members of the rival unions emerging from mass meetings early Tuesday threatened to clash physically. Extra details of police kept 3,000 girls on the move.

The operators who voted to strike shouted "scabs" at their rivals, who retorted "we're scabs."

Cat calls, hisses and yells were heard Tuesday morning on newspaper row.

The strike had its chief strength in the large cities. Many exchanges in small centers reported that their operators would remain at work. The number of operators employed in New England, excluding Connecticut is 12,535 of whom 6,100 are in the great Boston area. In the strike vote of last Tuesday, it was said that 7,599 ballots were cast of which 5,466 were in favor of a strike.

BELGIAN SENTRIES KILL FOUR GERMANS

Wiesbaden Railway Station Damaged By Bomb Thrown To Intimidate Travellers

By Associated Press

Buer, Germany.—Four Germans were shot and killed and three others were wounded by Belgian sentries here Sunday.

Three of the Germans were killed by a patrol in a section of the town where travel had been forbidden as the result of the killing of three Belgian soldiers, it is semi-officially explained. The fourth was killed by a sentinel along the railway.

The three persons who were wounded were struck by bullets while walking in the streets after curfew.

BOMB WOUNDS TWO

Wiesbaden, Germany.—Bomb throwing has been resorted to in an effort to deter German civilians from patronizing trains controlled by the French. A bomb was thrown early Monday morning into the waiting room of the Wiesbaden station where a large number of Germans were awaiting a train. The explosion wounded two persons seriously and caused considerable damage.

TOO MANY MINES SO U. S. CLOSES ONE

Washington, D. C.—Making a new departure in the field of railway regulation, the interstate commerce commission held Monday that there already are enough coal mines in the country, and solely on that ground refused to permit the Virginian railway to build a one mile branch in West Virginia to serve mines being opened by the Pocahontas Fuel company.

The proposed branch, on which work already has begun, is in the Guyanover valley and would have cost only $62,000. None of the usual objections to the project were raised. In denying the requested authorization, the commission held that fewer mines would in reality produce more coal because railroad facilities and rolling stock could be better concentrated. The decision pointed out that in the last year there were twenty-eight weeks when the Virginian road was unable to supply more than 50 per cent of cars ordered by mines already in existence.

FORD WOULD CONSIDER OFFER OF NOMINATION

By Associated Press

Detroit, Mich.—Henry Ford would give serious consideration to an offer of the presidential nomination by any responsible persons or party before rejecting or accepting it, according to E. G. Leibold, his general secretary, though Mr. Leibold added, no such offer had been made to Mr. Ford.

The statement was made in connection with a letter made public Monday by E. S. Fuller of Savannah, which quoted Mr. Leibold as saying Mr. Ford had no objection to further activities supporting him for the presidential nomination.

Mr. Leibold declined to verify the letter, saying he could not be sure of its authenticity without seeing the original or searching through his files for a copy.

Falling Trees Cut Off Long Distance Phone Service To Appleton

Rain Saves Crops, Ends Heat Wave

Damage From Electrical Storm And Downpour Is Repaired Quickly By Relief Crews Working Until Midnight

Appleton was cut off from long distance telephone communication with Milwaukee and cities to the west and northwest by the electrical storm which visited the city early Monday evening. Some of the trees which were broken off by the wind caused the trouble when they fell across the wires and broke them. Repairs were accomplished so service was normal shortly after midnight.

The lightning appeared to do little damage otherwise. No fires were reported, and no personal harm was done. The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company had minor troubles on some of its power and lighting circuits, but was able to make repairs without any inconvenience to patrons.

The storm was more welcomed than dreaded. Farmers had their anxieties relieved considerably by the downpour, because the crops were showing effects of a drought of several weeks and the pastures were becoming brown. Haying was interfered with to some extent, but the general result of the storm was the saving of thousands of dollars.

RELIEVES HOT CITY

Cool weather which followed the storm was gratifying. Appleton and vicinity had sweltered for more than a week, with Sunday so hot that activities were at a standstill. The wind and light rain of Sunday night furnished some relief, and the downpour of Monday night drove the torrid condition away entirely.

Repair crews of the Wisconsin Telephone company made record time in overcoming the damage to wires, according to J. T. Quinlan, district manager. A tree was blown down about 7 o'clock Monday night at a point seven miles south of Fond du Lac, taking with it all the toll lines connecting this city and Milwaukee. Shortly afterward a tree did the same thing about a mile this way from Hortonville, isolating Appleton from Stevens Point, Ashland, Eau Claire, Wausau and intermediate points.

Neenah's relief crew joined the Appleton men in replacing the lines near Hortonville, and a Fond du Lac crew took charge of the damage there. By 1 o'clock in the morning the lines had been connected again and business houses were given normal service when they opened Tuesday morning. A small amount of telephone trouble was caused locally and was being remedied Tuesday.

LITTLE TRACTION TROUBLE

The traction company encountered less trouble than was expected, because of the continuous lightning all evening. Some damage was done to lines where trees and branches were blown down, but no main circuits were disconnected for this reason. Some fuses blew out. Trouble with a motor within a plant at Neenah caused interruption at that city, but the storm was not to blame.

A horse belonging to John Beringer, 1264 Packard st., staked out to pasture, got its feet tangled in the rope during the storm Monday evening and threw itself. Neighbors who saw it fall thought it was struck by lightning and rushed to its rescue. It was soon released.

A couple three on county trunk line O leading off state highway 47, stranded drivers Monday that they passed under it at their own risk. The tree was of large proportions and was bent by the windstorm Sunday evening.

Five grade Holstein cows of the herd of William J. Schroeder of Apple Creek were struck dead by lightning in Sunday evening's thunderstorm. The cows were young and were all giving milk. They were under a tree in a pasture at the time. The loss was covered by lightning insurance.

ELKHART LAKE GETS 1925 AMERICAN GYM CONCLAVE

By Associated Press

St. Louis.—The next convention of the American Gymnastic Union will be held at Elkhart Lake, Wis., in 1925, it was announced Tuesday, following adjournment of the convention of the union here. The organization also voted to hold the next national symposium turn fest at Philadelphia in 1926.

RELIEF GENERAL FROM HEAT WAVE

Chicago—Relief from the heat wave of the past week which broke all records for duration and intensity, according to the weather bureau, was expected to be general throughout the central United States Tuesday, following the advent of a storm which swept down from the Canadian northwest through here Tuesday night and was reported traveling eastward through the Ohio valley.

Moderate temperature now prevails in the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi valley, which is forecast to continue for several days.

DENVER SPEECH IS STRONG PLEA AGAINST BOOZE

Harding Says Use Of Liquor By Few, Arouses Millions Who Have None

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1923 by the Post Pub. Co., Denver, Colo.—President Harding Monday appealed to the American people to stop drinking intoxicating liquors. And the president went further than he has ever gone in any prohibition speech, arguing that "there are literally American millions who resent the lawful possessions of the few, the lawless practices of a few, and rebel against the denial to the vast majority."

Mr. Harding made himself 100 per cent dry politically and otherwise in his formal address at Denver, while he didn't mention Gov. Al Smith of New York by name he made it very plain that he thought the recent repeal of the Mullan-Bage law was "likely to prove one of the historic blunders of political management."

MORAL AGREEMENT

The president didn't make a legal, but a moral argument. His comment on Al Smith's position in signing the repeal bill in New York state was not amplified by legal explanation. He didn't attempt to answer the contention of the New York governor that the Volstead Act itself is not in keeping with the spirit of the Eighteenth amendment and that a president of the United States actually vetoed that measure without being called a nullificationist. Mr. Harding simply stated that "when a state deliberately refuses to exercise the powers which the constitution expressly confers upon it, it obviously commits itself to a policy or nullifying state authority, the end of which we are reluctant to conjecture."

STATE RIGHTS

Mr. Harding, moreover, called Governor Smith's action an "abandonment rather than an assertion of state rights" which statement, of course, will be disputed by the "wet" in New York.

Two States In Path Of High Wind

Thousands Of Dollars Lost In Western Wisconsin And In Minnesota—Adventist Camp At Fond du Lac Damaged

St. Paul, Minn.—Reports of a severe storm in southeastern Minnesota, southwestern Wisconsin and northeastern Iowa trickled in Tuesday over shaky wires as advices from other sections of the northwest told of clear, cool weather which aided in bringing relief to stricken areas affected by Sunday's and Monday's atmospheric disturbances which took a toll of nearly a score of lives and hundreds of thousands of dollars in property damages.

The latest storm apparently centered in the vicinity of Dakota, Minn., and LaCrosse, Wis., and also hit points in Iowa, including Marquette. Scores of telephone and telegraph poles were swept down and communication with the district was difficult. Heavy hail was reported from LaCrosse.

POLES BLOWN DOWN

Near Dakota 20 poles and 2,000 feet of wire belonging to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad were torn down and part of the road bed near Dakota was washed out. The washout was soon repaired, however. No reports of injuries or loss of life had been received. The section hardest hit by Sunday's storm—Bowman and Adams in North Dakota—where six people were killed and nearly a score injured, several seriously, was clearing up wreckage of farm buildings and arranging for relief to the sufferers.

Communication early Tuesday had not been established between Dwight and Abercrombie N. D., and Wolverton, Minn., another storm area. Roofs of business houses were reported blown away. Deaths and eight horses were killed at Abercrombie. Numerous farm buildings were wrecked.

BOY KILLED

An additional death reported Tuesday with restored wire communication to east central Minnesota was that of a young boy of the King family at Sturgeon Lake who was struck by lightning Sunday night.

Twenty barns and other buildings were blown away near Hinckley, Minn.

WRECKS ADVENTIST CAMP

Special to Post-Crescent
Fond du Lac—A loss of $2,000 was suffered by the southern Wisconsin conference of the Seventh day Adventists in the camp grounds at the Fond du Lac fair grounds about 7 o'clock Monday evening. Mrs. William Pasaka, Milwaukee a camp worker, was struck on the ankle by a flying tent pole and injured. Much of the property was damaged by the rain which accompanied the wind. The camp will open on Thursday in spite of the loss. The main tent, recently purchased at a cost of $1,500, was torn to ribbons.

The storm was particularly severe in the southern part of the country. Dozens of silos were blown over, several barns were unroofed and trees uprooted. Oakfield, seven miles from here, was in total darkness when a falling tree broke the transmission lines.

About 300 telephones in Fond du Lac were put out of commission and Tuesday morning the streets were strewn with branches of trees.

A near panic ensued at the Adventist camp grounds when the storm tore the tent under which 50 persons were eating. The people rushed into the rain to save their property and were endangered by falling poles and by falling over tent stakes.

DESTROY WIRE LINES

LaCrosse, Wis.—Linemen worked all night and forces were augmented Tuesday in an effort to restore wire communication in this section of Wisconsin following the tornado like Monday afternoon. Dozens of buildings in the city and surrounding country were unroofed, chimneys blown down and hundreds of large shade trees uprooted by the storm, which was the most severe here since 1907.

CITIES GET MORE TAX THROUGH NEW AUTO-ROAD LAW

Legislature's Action Is Pleasing To League Of Municipalities

The League of Wisconsin Municipalities is well pleased with the passage by the senate last week of the league's highway program, especially that relating to the personal property privilege tax. The offset is eliminated by the bill and the entire revenue from this tax will go to the local municipalities, if the bill becomes a law.

A fight is expected in the assembly. Members of the lower house charge that the bill is another "Milwaukee measure." The measure received the support of the League of Municipalities while convening in Appleton last year. Mayor Daniel S. Honan of Milwaukee was one of the chief advocates. At Stevens Point recently the league reiterated its stand on the question.

Theodore Berg, city attorney, has written to Assemblyman Charles Schrimpf asking that he support the measure when it is introduced in the lower house. The measure, it is said, would double the cities' revenue from automobile taxes.

ON THE SCREEN

THE CHRISTIAN

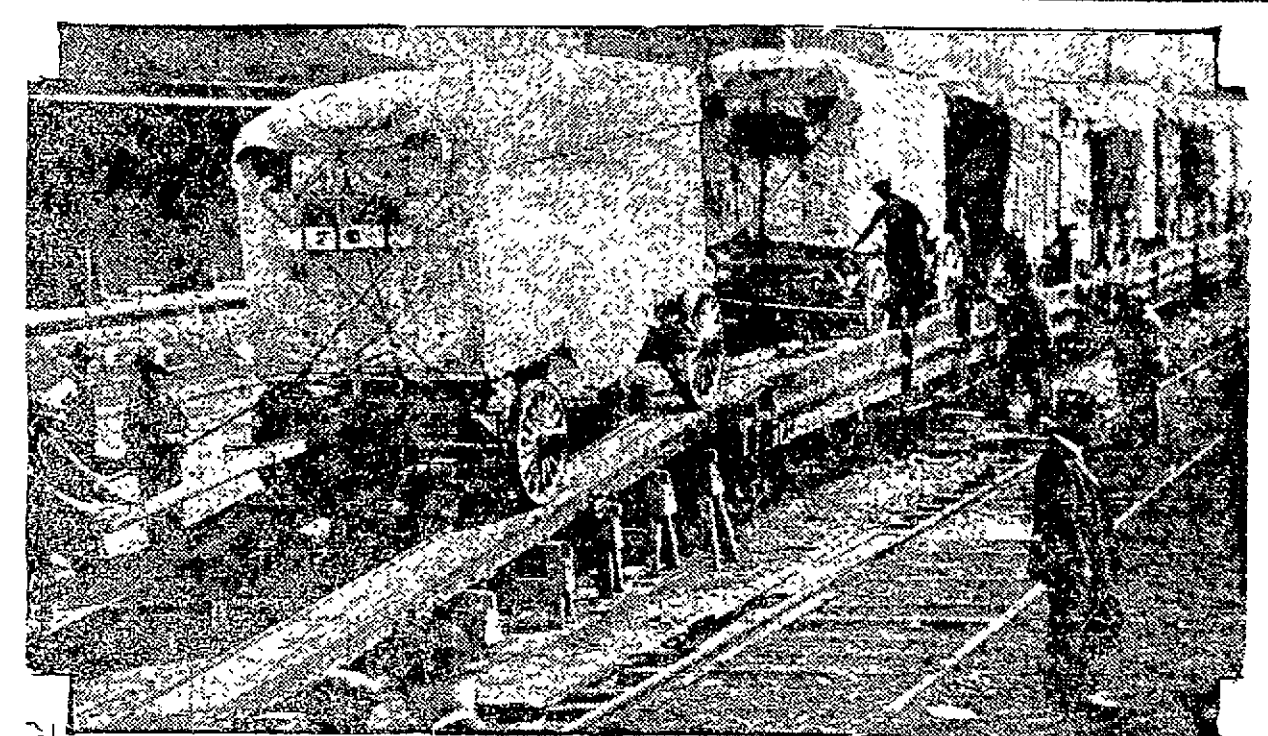

In translating Sir Hall Caine's great novel, "The Christian," to the screen Maurice Tourneur again has proved his place among the great directors of the silent drama. This masterpiece of cinematic art, which opened yesterday for a 3 days engagement at the Elite theatre, is impressive evidence that when the Goldwyn company announced it was going to make only twenty pictures a year, "but all big ones" it meant what it said.

It is taken for granted that any picture made by Mr. Tourneur will be notable for its composition, and in its quality of showing psychological action on the screen while "The Christian" has these attributes to a degree seldom, if ever before, equalled. It also is replete with dramatically stirring situations. We were told that when the mob scene was made at Trafalgar Square, and Mr. Tourneur directed his hundreds of extras from midnight until dawn, that not only London, but all England was startled by this "Tankee enterprise" that turned one of the world's historic spots into a vast movie set. The result more than justified the experiment. Among many other notable and stirring scenes particular attention might be called to those at Epsom Downs on Derby Day.

It is a picture to stir the blood and the imagination, a great novel translated to the screen without losing any of its original force and purpose, and adding the peculiar vividness that only the silver sheet possesses. Sir Hall Caine was closely associated with Mr. Tourneur, throughout the production, and it is easy to believe that the actor was thoroughly satisfied.

The cast that Mr. Tourneur assembled from Richard Dix in the title role, and Mae Busch, as Glory Quayle, right through the roster, is exception

Skinnay And His Friends Out Early As Main Circus Unloads Here Today

Just after dawn Tuesday morning the Walter L. Main circus had arrived in the Northwestern yards here and was unloading as Old Sol began peeping over the horizon. Even at that early hour a crowd of youngsters was on hand to see the operations.

"Hey, Skinnay," shouted a ragged urchin, "let's go over and feed the elephants."

"Aw right, but don't yer feed em any terbaccer, if yer do they will yer if yer live to be a hundred years." "Naw they won't," said Skinnay, "I seen a man feed em terbaccer at the last circus and he ate a whole sack of it."

"Yeah, but wait till that elephant comes back the next time and he will get him."

Too bad to spoil the youthful fancy. That was a mighty good press agent story and it has done its duty for years. But as a matter of fact, according to the truthful press agent of the Main circus elephants enjoy a good chew of plug or scrap and you won't gain their enmity by giving it to them. Elephants are very fond of peanuts also. One interested bystander who saw the beasts empty a big tank via her trunk, remarked this morning, "Gee, they must have fed her salted peanuts Monday at Manitowish."

The Main circus detrainning this morning was accomplished in record time and all of their tents were up on the College-ave and State-st show grounds long before the parade hour.

The moving of the heavy wagons was facilitated by the use of trucks and the elephants lent assistance in raising the center poles of the "big top."

The cooking was done by steam cookers and there was even a mechanical potato peeler in the mess tent. The long stake pine were driven by a gasoline stake driver that was built in Baraboo and just shipped to the circus a few days ago.

PARADE ON TIME

Many people came into town in the morning to see the big street parade. To the credit of the circus people they did not keep the crowd waiting, but had it down town at the advertised hour. It served to show off to a good advantage the beautifully burnished tableaux wagons, the new and gorgeous wardrobe and trappings and in music it was not lacking, with three bands and two calliopes. The display of wild beasts was commendable, and all the cages were opened so that the crowd had an intimate view of the many specimens. There were elephants and camels from old "Bahe" in the lead that weighs five tons down to the little baby bulls that tip the scales at 1,800 each; mounted ladies and male escorts, funny clowns and real looking wild west cowboys and cow girls. It was a good parade and attracted the undivided attention of the crowd. All eyes took in the remarkable sight of the man driving ten horses on the big band wagon that headed the parade. This man, an old Barnum driver had in his hands sixty pounds of leather, some of the ribbons were 30 feet in length and it took two sides of leather to make them in the circus winter quarters.

MAY WIRTH IS FEATURE

In all of its advance advertising the circus has featured May Wirth and Phil and the Wirth family said to be the greatest riding act in the world. Naturally every one was waiting for this feature. It came when the show was half over and it proved to be an act that was never equalled with any circus seen here. May Wirth is a wonderful girl rider. She looked like a school girl, dressed in blue silk and wearing a big bow in her hair. On the back of her favorite steed she danced like a fairy, turning somersaults, from one horse to the other and then blowing kisses at the audience was forced to take an encore. Phil was there with his burlesque riding and the whole family put on a classy act. The Arabs were a close second, wonderful tumblers all of them, there was a great exhibition of wire walking by Maximo, elephants that played musical instruments and danced the shamble, some great upside down trapeze work, trained animals and funny clowns and the circus closed with a big Indian riding act by the Loyds. It was a really good circus, clean as a whistle.

Spring-cleaning the Leviathan recently employed more than 1000 men for five weeks and two miles of new carpets were laid.

Manitowish "Y" Camp Registrations Include Six Appleton Young Men

Royden Sraehly, Albert Timme, Leonard Henrikson, Henry Wood, Lawrence Bohon and Harold Zuehlke head the list of Y. M. C. A. boys who will spend one or more periods at Camp Manitowish this season. A large number of boys have expressed their intentions and it is expected that as many will register this year as were enrolled during the 1922 season.

Much has been said of late regarding northern Wisconsin, the summer paradise of countless lakes and streams, big fish, wild animals, virgin forests and native Indians. In the very heart of this wilderness, in the midst of the famed Manitowish waters, lies Camp Manitowish on Boulder Lake, Vilas co.

This camp is owned and operated by the state Y. M. C. A. The property, the old Rabbit's Foot resort long famed among tourists has been much improved by the association until now it is one of the best equipped boys camps in the country.

W. H. Wones, boys work secretary, is personally in charge and is assisted by a corps of college men most of whom have been in camp before and have demonstrated their character and ability to produce the results eminently satisfactory to boys and their parents as well.

The camp opened Tuesday and continues until Sept. 24, and will be divided into periods of two weeks each. Any boy 12 years of age or over can go if his application is properly approved.

One of the features of the camp program is the canoe trip on which all campers who pass the swimming and canoe tests may go. As there are about 240 lakes in a circle within a radius of ten miles around camp there is always plenty of variety on these trips.

One hundred and seventy-five boys are already enrolled and to be assured the choice of periods, registration must be made early.

Facts Relating to Railroads

RAILWAYS—A NATIONAL ASSET: The United States is the wealthiest nation in the world today. It contains 54.10% of the land area of the world; 61.40% of the population of the world, and 36% of the railways of the world, or 259,555 miles. The railways are one of the nation's greatest assets. They provide transportation which is the basis of commerce and the means whereby exchange of products is accomplished. For each person in the United States in 1900 there was transported 8 tons of freight. For each person in 1920, 12 tons. The increasing cost of living is really the cost of better living.

VALUE OF TRANSPORTATION: Transportation is the measure of civilization. History confirms this statement. Production without transportation must be very limited, and if so limited would have greatly retarded the progress of civilization. Transportation increases the worth of all property it serves. Property values are largely determined by the ability of the property to produce and the owner's opportunity to dispose of the products at a profit. The value of all farm property in the United States increased from twenty and one-half billion dollars in the year 1900 to seventy-eight billion dollars in the year 1920, and the value of all farm products, at the same time, increased from five billion dollars to twenty billion dollars. This is due in part to adequate transportation.

INCREASE OF MANUFACTURERS: Production is the measure of human efficiency and human progress. There is no limit to the amount of wealth that may be created except the limitation of production. The purchasing power of an individual community or nation lies in its power of production. Manufactured products in the United States increased from a value of eleven and one-half billion dollars in the year 1899 to sixty-two and one-half billion dollars in the year 1919. Transportation contributed substantially to this development by affording an easy method of exchange.

PROGRESS OF UNITED STATES: The total wealth of the United States has increased in the twenty-year period, from 1900 to 1920, two hundred ninety-five per cent. During the same period farm values in the United States have increased two hundred eight-one per cent. Investments in manufacturing industries have increased three hundred ninety-eight per cent. Investments in railroads in the United States have increased ninety-three per cent. The expanding commerce of the country requires an expansion of railroad facilities and equipment. It is clear that railroad development has not kept pace with the growing commerce. A new era of expansion is necessary.

ADEQUATE RETURNS: The railroads in the United States increased their investment in locomotives, cars, yards, terminals and other railway property, in the ten years ended December 31, 1922, by more than five billion four hundred million dollars. The income they received in the year 1922 was eleven million dollars less than in the year 1913, being a smaller income from a substantially increased investment. Investors cannot prudently place their money in an industry which does not yield a reasonable rate of interest. An expanding commerce requires continued investment. It is clear that investments in railroads in the United States must be made more attractive and secure.

REASONABLE RATES: Railroad rates to be just and reasonable must, among other things, be sufficient to meet the cost of wages, materials and fuel, taxes and the interest on capital. No one expects a person to sell his wares at less than cost and all agree to a fair margin for the use of capital. The railroads should receive the same consideration, in order to render efficient service which is always our purpose.

Stop at Salt Lake City on your way to -

California

"Here we stop," said Brigham Young, that great Moses of the Mormon pioneers. They did stop and a beautiful city stands a monument to their labors.

No tour of the west is complete without Salt Lake City. The Mormon Temple, Tabernacle, marvelous organ, Deseret Museum with relics of pre-historic and pioneer days, Wasatch Mountain drives, Great Salt Lake—all call you to stop. You can do it and also include Denver and scenic Colorado without extra cost. Take in Yellowstone National Park too—only overnight from Salt Lake City.

PROHIBITION ABSURDITY
After some hesitation and a little shying, the United States government has raided two British steamships, the Baltic and Berengaria, and seized their stocks of sealed liquor in order to test the treasury department's ruling that no ocean liner may come within America's three-mile limit with intoxicating beverages aboard. Thus we have the opening chapter of an international controversy over prohibition, involving consequences the seriousness and extent of which no one can predict.

It may be that we have the legal right under the Volstead act to take this extreme measure, and that technically the treasury department's interpretation of this remarkable law is correct. The courts will have to decide this, but whatever the legal facts of the controversy may be, there remains the question of propriety and comity, which in our judgment is of greater importance than the application of the Volstead act to foreign shipping.

Vessels enter our ports from countries where certain drinks, like wines and ales, are held to be of food and health value. They are a part of the rations of the crew. Travelers from these countries regard such beverages as much a part of their meals as, we do tea, coffee or milk, or even water. Liquors served over the bar or at meals are locked up under government seal upon reaching the American three-mile limit, and are not unlocked on the outward trip until the three-mile limit is passed. It is inconceivable that any wrong or any harm can come to anyone, or that prohibition in the United States can in any wise suffer, by this procedure. Liquor under seal can hardly contaminate even our most fastidious citizens who may happen to know of its existence in the holds of foreign ships which enter our ports.

Interpretation of the Volstead act as it is being applied to foreign shipping, while it may be technically legal, is nevertheless ridiculous and belittling. It is an unwarranted and childish interference by one nation with the rights and privileges of another, in which nothing of any value whatsoever is gained and which the aggrieved nation may properly resent. Back of it all lie two great human weaknesses, jealousy and the American dollar. Since our own ships cannot carry liquor, and are thus placed at a disadvantage in competition with foreign shipping, we must needs attempt to place upon these competitors a ban that is as selfish as it is incongruous and fanatical. If other nations are compelled to submit to this tyranny, they will be justified in resorting to reprisals against American commerce and they may be expected to engage in them. There is only one self-respecting thing this nation can do, if the Volstead act in truth reaches this absurdity, and that is to so amend the law as to permit nations with which we trade to conduct their shipping on the high seas in accordance with their customs, habits and international law.

FLYING THE ARCTIC
Captain Roald Amundsen has abandoned his flight across the north pole by airplane, but if we are to credit Arctic explorers his failure is merely an incident in the development of the best aerial navigation area in the world.

That is a strange statement; but so widely is it believed in England that the British government is being urged to occupy Wrangell island out in the Arctic ocean. That island, once thought to be a continent, was discovered by the British in 1849, allowed to lapse into a no-man's land under the six-year non-occupation rule, and in 1870 rediscovered by Captain Long in the Jeanette, an American ship. We claimed it and named it after Baron Wrangell, a famous Swedish explorer in Russian service. John Muir in the relief ship Corwin helped explore it and described it in his book, "The Cruise of the Corwin."

Now the island is again no-man's land because it is nine years since the Stefansson expedition visited it and restored the British claim. It is said to be an ideal jumping-off place for airplanes if developed; and is located in the Arctic far west of Point Barrow, Alaska, whence Amundsen was to have started his flight.

Though of course an impossible sea route, the Arctic ocean is considered by explorers to be a polar Mediterranean so far as air travel is concerned. It is much the smallest of all oceans and the easiest to cross. All about it lies the northern fringe of the richest continents on earth, and airways across it would all be shortcuts. Stefansson sees "the settlements creep northward along the great rivers of Siberia and Canada" as the world thrusts forth new colonies and outposts.

Perhaps Arctic air routes and the pre-eminence of this bit of land will turn out to be something more than a dream. Certainly it should not be a bad plan for the United States to run a swift vessel up there as we did in 1881 with the Corwin and Rogers and clinch a six-year claim to make sure.

AMERICAN AND MEXICAN DIFFERENCES

Confiscation of land and other property and national title to underground property are the two questions on which the United States and Mexico have been unable to agree. So explains Senor Manuel Palavicini, editorial writer of El Universal, of Mexico City, which paper his father owns.

The Mexican government recognizes two definitions of property, he says. It considers land, buildings, machinery, and other tangibles to be property, and it regards money and credit as property. The law specifies that owners of property must put it to use in five years; in case they do not, the government sells it. According to Senor Palavicini, the government converts one kind of property into another.

The real question is not exchange of property, but exchange at the just value. Mexico takes the right course in dividing the large estates among the people. But it is easy to see how law could work to confiscate property. Were the United States to undertake a similar enterprise, it would appraise the property, then buy it at the appraised price and dispose of it by dividing it practically at cost.

"Don't worry," says the Optimist:
"If you should lose your head and earned pelf,
Keep your head, 'till you get yer chin."
(I've written stuff like that myself.)
"Laugh at your woes—and never again,
Be brave," they counsel you, but when
They strike some troubles of their own,
Well, that is something Else Again!
Although your courage may be strong,
You cannot always sport a smile;
Sometimes when things are going wrong,
It does you good to grouch awhile.
The other fellow's life, in truth,
You had am bear, but now and then
When YOU have got an aching tooth,
Well, that is something Else Again!
"Don't worry," says the Optimist,
And that's an easy thing to say,
But when bad fortune will persist,
You wonder How They Get That Way;
"Don't wince! Don't crumble, moan or screech!"
Is cheerful dope for birds to pen,
But do they practice what they preach?
Well, that is something Else Again!

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

IVY POISONING
Every one who reads knows how to cure a cold in one day, which seems to be exceedingly fast work, for it takes me that long to make even a tentative diagnosis of what really ails the poor chap who thinks he has a cold. The diagnosis of what purports to be a cold prevents many possibilities of adventure, but once one gets a line on the case, the treatment is very dull indeed.
With ivy poisoning it is just the reverse! The diagnosis—well, the patient simply announces he has ivy poisoning and "What's good for it?" That is, he announces he has it, then without any punctuation save perhaps a blankety blank, asks for succor. He makes no unnecessary pauses. When I had the itch, I really was quite busy for a while—not seven years, but several hours. But I discovered summer before last, that I had never till then known just what it meant to be so denigrating busy. That was when I encountered Rhus toxicodendron up the lake. So I don't blame the victim of this plant—it is a plant, all right—for omitting punctuation.
There are three methods of treating ivy poisoning, namely, prevention, cure and relief.
The prevention of ivy poisoning comprises two lines of procedure. First, immunization of the individual against the poison. This is effected by the administration of very minute but gradually increasing doses of a tincture of such summer season. Second, the application of projectives, such as ordinary lather allowed to dry on the exposed skin, or smearing the exposed skin with ordinary petroleum jelly (petrolatum) or even cup grease before coming in contact with poison ivy or four leaves. This is good homeopathic treatment. Of course this treatment can be safely given only by a physician.
For relief of ivy poisoning, repeated bathing with many changes of soapy tepid water, or with solutions of salutarin in the strength of a tablespoonful to the quart of tepid water or large dressings kept wet with such solutions, are good in the early stage. For the itching, frequent bathing with the essence of the well known calamine lotion is soothing. Calamine lotion consists of two drams each of calamine, zinc oxide, glycerin and borax, and two ounces each of rose water, lime water and 5 per cent phenol solution (one of 20 carbolic solution). After the acute stage has passed, zinc oxide treatment or other simple, soothing ointment may be used.
For the purpose of temporary or seasonal immunization against ivy poisoning any susceptible individual may take internally, after each meal, in half a glassful of water, one drop of Lloyd's tincture of Rhus toxicodendron or of a tincture obtained from a homeopathic pharmacy, and increase the dose by one drop each time, until a dose of 30 drops is taken at the end of 10 days, then take half a teaspoonful in water after each meal for another 10 days, and thereafter take about a teaspoonful in water once a week throughout the season.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Disinfecting Drinking Water
Inform me who carries, or will secure for me, a small quantity of Maloxone tablets for disinfecting questionable water for drinking purposes. I want to carry this in my emergency kit on a long auto tour.
Answer—Any druggist can obtain it in convenient form from his jobber. It is a proprietary chlorine compound. In the pamphlet, "The Safe Vacation," published by the United States Public Health Service, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., at a nickel or a dime per copy, ordinary "chloride of lime" (chlorinated lime) is recommended for purifying drinking water, these directions being given: Put one teaspoonful of the powder (chlorinated lime) into a quart bottle of water, cork it tightly and let it stand several hours. Pour off one teaspoonful of the clear solution (a sediment will be found in the bottle) into two gallons of water and let it stand for 15 minutes before using. It will purify the water excellently and is not injurious.

Come to Appleton on July 4th, and you'll like the town so well, you'll want to stay forever. The conductor of this column came up here last November for a 10 days' visit and has been here ever since. And, he's going to stay here until from this exciting water, that in reality Cristobal is a series of these, four and uninviting to a degree, viewed from outside, but veritable gardens within. And there are four other islands in the Galapagos group—some smaller, some larger, than Cristobal—uninhabited

Pirates Buried Gold In Islands
(From a Bulletin of The National Geographic Society)
The Galapagos Islands are being revisited by scientists because they form an incomparable natural history museum.
Charles Darwin began scientific exploration there and he reported on the various species of giant tortoises, each species confined to a single islet, and pointed out half the flowers and half the birds of the islands are to be found nowhere else in the world.
More than 2,000 volcanic cones besprinkle the archipelago, and the islands' volcanic origin accounts for the peculiar interest they hold for science. Darwin deduced that the group has not been nearer the mainland nor have the islands been closer together than now.
HOW PECULIARITIES DEVELOPED
Hence the species of flowers and birds which drifted to the islands have undergone a development in their isolated environment very different from that in the native habitats. Scidom has nature provided such a clear-cut opportunity to study the processes of evolution.
The Galapagos hold a different sort of lure for the modern world. Most tales of hidden treasure warrant many grains of salt, but it seems certain that the pirates of South America hid their loot of gold and silver where they had their headquarters in these islands. Two caches have been unearthed, silver ingots and pieces of eight. The finder of one built a hotel in Ecuador. The second carried himself to death.
EQUATORIAL AIR CHILLY
The islands lie just under the equator, but the air frequently is chilly on some of them. The cold antarctic currents which fan the coast of Peru strike seaward at Cape Blanco and surge across the Galapagos group. Up to 800 feet most of the islands are barren. Above that level they are swathed in clouds whose moisture aids luxuriant vegetation.
Wild goats, cattle, cats and dogs, as well as hidden treasure, bear evidence of the rendezvous of buccaners. In 1832 Ecuador annexed the islands and since 1885 they have had a governor. They acquired a strategic importance with the opening of the Panama canal, for they lie on the canal's shortest route. The nearest of the islands to mainland is nearly 600 miles west of Ecuador.
HAVE ECONOMIC VALUE
Treasure and science to one side, the future of the islands looms large upon their agricultural merit. Ralph Stock, in his classic account of "The Dream Ship" expedition, writes: "The soil is a rich, red loam, almost stoneless and scarcely touched by the plow. There are 3,500 head of cattle at present on Cristobal island and it could support 50,000 with ease. There is no disease and no adverse climatic condition with which to contend and at 3 years old a steer brings $100, live weight, at Guayaquil—when a steamer can be induced to call and take it there."
There are a few hundred acres under cultivation where there might be thousands. Looking down on this fertile valley, it is hard to realize that one is standing on the lip of a long-extinct crater, that in reality Cristobal is a series of these, four and uninviting to a degree, viewed from outside, but veritable gardens within. And there are four other islands in the Galapagos group—some smaller, some larger, than Cristobal—uninhabited

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

All Equal Is Aim Of Turkey
(Gustav Herit, in Reconstruction, Vienna.)
Formerly the Christian and Jewish inhabitants stood as it were outside the Turkish state. When conquered by the Turks the Christians were left in possession of full freedom with respect to religious, national and cultural matters. The new rulers only put at their head a patriarch or "Vekil," who was responsible for his "nation." The Christian had to pay the poll tax, but were for the rest under no obligation toward the state, not even for national defense. On the other hand, non-Muslims had not political rights.
In the course of time the Christians more and more grew into the state. They were latterly obliged to pay the other taxes and had to conform to the laws of the country. And with the development of the Turkish judiciary their own particular jurisdiction gradually disappeared until at last the Young Turks even forced them into military service. In return the Christians were granted a share in the political administration.
The aim of the Turkish Nationalists is to become political masters in their own house. Turkey wants to be a modern commonwealth where all inhabitants have equal rights and equal duties. The legal incapacity of the and exactly similar in character. Normally, they belong to Ecuador. Here, surely, is a new field for enterprise.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent, Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)
Q. What is classical Latin and what is archaic? T. F. W.
A. Classical Latin comprises the Latin of the golden age 80 B. C. to 14 A. D., and the silver age from 14 to 180 A. D. The archaic period of Latin language is that previous to the third century, B. C., which is represented by a few inscriptions.
Q. How wide is the Mississippi at its widest point? How many bridges cross the river? N. S. H.
A. The Mississippi River Commission says that according to the latest survey the greatest width at bankfull stage was found 77 miles below Cairo, Illinois, where the river was 14,420 feet across. There are 129 bridges across the Mississippi; 77 above St. Paul, Minn.; 41 between St. Paul and the point where the Ohio joins the river; and 2 below this point. Two of the largest bridges are at Memphis, Tenn.; 1 at Thebes, Ill.; and 4 at St. Louis, Mo.
Q. When were parrots brought into Europe? Are the females as brilliant in coloring as the males? I. M. C.
A. The first parrots which were known in Europe were brought from eastern India, and it was not until toward the middle of the first century of the Christian era that the parrots of Africa were introduced into Rome. The poet Ovid, who lived before the time of Nero, mentions the Indian parrots or parakeets, and particularly notices the emerald hue of their plumage and their deep red beaks. Pliny, the Roman naturalist, describes the beauties of parrots. Hen parrots differ in the colors of their plumage from the cocks, the latter sex being clothed with the more showy feathers.
Q. Please give some information about Syria as it is today. M. H.
A. Syria has an area of 60,000 square miles, about the size of the State of Georgia, with a population of 2,000,000. It was made independent of Turkey, and placed under a French mandate by the Allied powers in 1920. For convenience of administration France divided the country into four provinces: Aleppo, Amonito, Damascus, and Great Lebanon. The eastern part of the country is dry. Great Lebanon, however, is very fertile. The population is largely Mohammedan.
Q. How salty is sea water as compared with blood? F. H. F.
A. If the percentages of sodium, magnesium, calcium and chlorine in sea water be compared with the percentage in blood serum, the figures are, respectively, 39.5 and 39; 5.73 and 0.4; 1.2 and 1.0; 1.11 and 27; 65.27 and 45.0.
Q. What is the value of rubber goods consumed in this country? A. M. P.
A. American manufacturers produce annually rubber goods valued at approximately $1,000,000,000, nine tenths of which is consumed in the United States.
Q. Are there underground railways in Tokio? J. T. G.
A. A contract to construct subways in Tokio, on a cost-plus basis, amounting to $15,000,000 was signed by the Foundation Company of New York, February 10. This is Tokio's initial experiment with underground transportation.
Q. What is meant by perihelion distance? T. F. C.
A. In astronomy, perihelion is that part of the orbit of the earth, or any other planet in which it is at the point nearest to the sun. The "perihelion distance" of a heavenly body is its distance from the sun at its nearest approach.

Church Sets Aside Day For Young

Mount Olive Congregation Will Have Program And Picnic Sunday

Next Sunday will be children's day at Mount Olive Evangelical Lutheran church, not only at the church service in the morning but at a picnic which will occupy the remainder of the day at Pierce park. The Sunday school teachers are making the arrangements.

A program is to be presented by the Bible school pupils at the regular service of worship at the church at 10:30. The children and the congregation then will go to Pierce park, where each family will serve its basket dinner.

Games for old and young will occupy the afternoon and the youngsters will be treated to refreshments. The 121st Field Artillery band will give a concert from 2 to 5 o'clock.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Cordella Geenen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Geenen of Freedom, to Joseph E. Garvey son of Mrs. John L. Garvey, also of Freedom, took place at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. J. Peters in St. Nicholas church at Freedom. The attendants were the Misses Marie Murphy and Genevieve Murphy and Willis Geenen and John Newcomb. A reception will be held for the couple Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Garvey will make their home on a farm near Freedom.

Miss Alma Brill of Appleton and Joseph Edward Murphy of Milwaukee were married at 8:30 Tuesday morning. Magr W. J. Fitzmaurice performed the ceremony in St. Mary church. Miss Jeanette Brill was maid of honor and William Heid of Milwaukee was best man. Other attendants were Miss Ellen Malone, Miss Margaret McCann, Chris Mullen and John Roach. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left for an automobile trip to the northern part of the state and upon their return will make their home in Appleton.

The marriage of Miss Anna Schafelke of Appleton, to Victor M. Hartzheim of Darboy, took place at 3:30 Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Basil Gummertmann in St. Joseph church. The attendants were Miss Emma Hartzheim, Miss Alice Hartzheim, Richard Beelens and Michael Hartzheim. Mr. and Mrs. Hartzheim will leave Tuesday evening on an automobile trip through the southern part of the state after which they will make their home near Darboy.

My White Clay

I owe my youthful bloom and beauty to a French-type clay, perfected by 20 years of scientific study. It is white, clean, dainty, and amazingly efficient. Many users, in 30 minutes seem to drop ten years. Through its use, I at 60 look 19.

I urge you to try it. Ask at your toilet counter for Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay—50c and $1 per tube.

CHURCHES TO FEED VISITORS JULY 4

Concessions Have Been Granted
At Pierce Park To Various Congregations

Appleton churches will feed the throng which is expected to attend the American legion's Independence day celebration here next week, according to announcement of Charles C. Baker, general chairman. Various congregations have been invited to set up equipment at Pierce park, where they will be given the meal concessions and the opportunity to replenish their treasures.

Some organizations will serve hot meals, and others will provide sandwiches, salads and desserts which will require no cooking at the grounds. This will be one of the big tasks of the celebration because it is learned that 5,600 meals were served at the Oshkosh gathering a year ago.

Mr. Baker will furnish church women details of the feeding arrangement.

Moose Teams Will Report On Building Drive

Captains of the teams of Loyal Order of Moose engaged in the building fund campaign will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in Pythian-Moose hall to give reports of the results of the work to date. The next regular meeting of the lodge will be held Tuesday evening, July 2, when a class of candidates will be initiated.

It has been decided by the lodge to postpone the annual picnic planned for July 4 so the members will be able to attend the American legion celebration.

PARTIES

DOROTHY PETERSON IN CHAUTAQUA FIELD WORK

Miss Dorothy A. Peterson, 407 Pacific-st., left Monday afternoon for Chautauque, where she will begin her work as an advance agent for the Acme Chautauque Co.

Miss Peterson's work will be principally to organize teams for selling season tickets in the cities to be visited.

ed by the Chautauque troupe. Her work will keep her traveling from one place to another in southern Wisconsin and parts of Illinois until about Sept. 1, when she will make Springfield, Ill. the last city to be visited. An average of three or four days will be spent in each place.

Mrs. J. S. Bayer and children of Racine are visiting relatives in Appleton.

Kellogg's Bran Is nature's relief from the terrors of constipation!

Never make light of constipation or any one of its symptoms—there is no telling what disease you may be heading into! The one thing to do—IMMEDIATELY—is to fight constipation to the last ditch! Not with pills or cathartics; they cannot give you lasting relief! Not with foods with a low bran content; they do not have the bran bulk to do the work!

What you need, what will give you permanent relief is Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL BRAN! Kellogg's is scientifically prepared to relieve constipation. It will relieve the chronic case or the mild case. You need it, your family needs it!

But, you must eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—each day! At least two tablespoonsful; in chronic cases this amount with each meal! And, eating Kellogg's Bran is a delight rather than a hardship. It has a delicious, appealing nut-like flavor that wins the most fastidious appetite.

Every day when you eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal, sprinkled on your favorite hot or cold cereal or cooked or mixed with hot cereals, think of the health every spoonful contains for you! Think how Kellogg's Bran is sweeping and cleansing the alimentary tract; how it is driving out the toxic poisons and freeing your system from dangers of dreaded diseases! Your physician will recommend it.

Kellogg's Bran is extra-delicious made into countless bakery batches. Recipes on every package.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran; it is also obtainable at first class hotels and clubs in individual packages. Ask for it at your restaurant.

STORM KEEPS LEARNERS OUT OF SWIMMING CLASS

Only seven young women braved the thunder shower Monday evening to take their free lesson in swimming at the Y. M. C. A. Because of the small class, the swimmers were able to get more personal attention than in a larger group and they learned rapidly. The entire group which was supposed to have had its second lesson on Monday evening will have its final lesson on Thursday rather than Friday as was originally planned. In the absence of A. P. Jensen, the class will be conducted by E. H. Wright, assisted by Miss Emily Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schell and daughter Marian returned Monday to their home at 724 Lafayette, after spending a few days at Lake Enterprise.

GULBRANSEN

Player-Piano

Better Music, Quickly Mastered, on the Gulbransen

Listen to the playing of a Gulbransen by anyone who understands the correct interpretation of the music being played.

Compare it with the hand-playing that you ordinarily hear.

It is no exaggeration to say that Gulbransen playing is infinitely superior, more expressive, more artistic.

Compare the best Gulbransen playing with the best hand-playing. They are indistinguishable.

These are broad statements, but facts.

They are important because they point the way for you to play good music, with your own individuality and expression, but without long study and tedious finger-work.

Remember these points: First, the Gulbransen is easy to play; second, you do the playing, you are in as close contact with the music being produced as is the musician who plays any instrument; third, it is the only player-piano with Instruction Rolls.

Make Your Home The Coolest Spot In Summer

People will travel for hours in hot and crowded street cars; or drive in their machines along dusty roads in the scorching sun, trying to find a cool spot, only to be pestered with flies and mosquitoes, when they finally get there. What a waste of energy—when right in your own home you can enjoy all the comfort and coolness you want.

Awnings Summer Drapes

Keep your home cool Light in weight

If you want to get more pleasure out of your home in summer, keep it cool. Awnings will help a lot. We carry a big line of standard size Awnings in different styles. They are made from extra heavy canvas duck. The colors are fast and very attractive and will withstand all sorts of weather.

Window Shades

Shut out the sun

If any of your shades are cracked or worn thin you had better get some new to keep the scorching sun from peeping into your room. For even a streak of sunlight is too much sunlight these hot days. These Shades are made from good quality hand made Oil Opaque and are mounted on best Hartshorn Rollers.

We will furnish estimates at your request.

These Drapes are light enough in weight to admit whatever breeze that may be stirring, yet they are strong enough to stand the extra tubbing that they must undergo in summer. The colors are delightful and cool looking.

Bright cheery Cretonnes 35c to $1.50 per yard.

Crisp Grenadines 45c to $2.25 per yard.

Attractive Mohairs $1.25 to $2.25 per yard.

Grass Rugs

For every room

Some people have an idea that Grass Rugs are used only for sun rooms or porches. Grass rugs are being used throughout the house. People prefer to use them in summer not only because they save the more expensive wool rugs but because they are so much cooler. They come in a variety of colors and patterns.

All Standard Sizes $6.75 up to $18.25.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WORK

Marion, Ind.—“I was all run-down, nervous and bent over. I could hardly drag around, let alone do my work. I read some letters in the papers telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and I thought I would try it. Then a man told my husband about his wife and what good it had done her and wanted him to have me try it. I took one bottle and could see what it did for me in a week's time, and when I had taken three bottles I had gained both in strength and weight and was doing my own work. I took it before my last baby was born and it helped me so much. I am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who suffers from female ailments, for I know by experience what it can do. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, also the Liver Pills too, and think them fine.”—Mrs. Wm. Eldridge, 620 E. Grant Street, Marion, Indiana.

A record of nearly fifty years service should convince you of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Albert Voelckers of Appleton, is district treasurer and will present his report.

The valley conference and the district gathering alternate, causing each to be held once every two years.

Free Rides Are Means Of Quick Trip Over U. S.

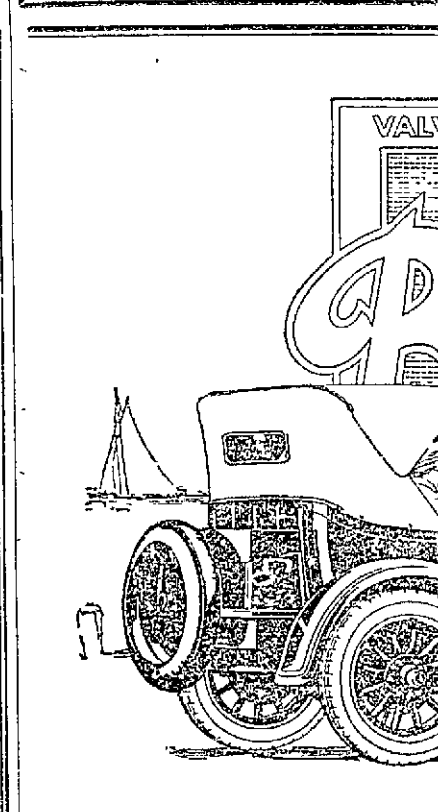

While on his way to Bondel Sunday, Stephen Balliet was hailed by two young men who asked him for a ride. After taking them into his car he learned they were from Philadelphia and were on their way to the Pacific coast. They left home a week ago and are riding by automobile exclusively depending on the generosity of drivers. They expect to be at Shelby, Mont., in time for the Dempsey-Gibbons fight on July 4. They claim in asking for rides they are very seldom turned down.

Free Rides Are Means Of Quick Trip Over U. S.

While on his way to Bondel Sunday, Stephen Balliet was hailed by two young men who asked him for a ride. After taking them into his car he learned they were from Philadelphia and were on their way to the Pacific coast. They left home a week ago and are riding by automobile exclusively depending on the generosity of drivers. They expect to be at Shelby, Mont., in time for the Dempsey-Gibbons fight on July 4. They claim in asking for rides they are very seldom turned down.

NEED MORE PARK SPACE FOR CARS HERE ON JULY 4

Transportation Committee Seeking Accommodations For 2,500 Machines

Finding sufficient parking space for the thousands of automobiles which are expected to be in Appleton on July 4 is a big problem for the transportation committee of Ony Johnson post of the American Legion. The committee, headed by J. B. Langenberg, has arranged for sufficient space to park about 600 cars, but room for twice that many more is required. It is desired to obtain the parking space as close to Pierce park as possible so that motorists will not have far to walk after they leave their cars.

No parking will be permitted within the park or on Second-st on July 4. It is desired to leave the approaches to the park as open as possible.

TWO PARKING PLACES
Two tracts have been secured on Lennox-st, two blocks from the park, where approximately 600 cars may be stationed. Arrangements are almost completed for another tract on Miller-st to accommodate 250 more machines.

The committee Monday went over vacant lots on Story-st and Pierce-ave with the view of obtaining them. If these tracts can be secured for the day approximately 400 more cars can be taken care of, making about 1,300 in all. Inasmuch as 2,500 machines are expected, the committee must find still more parking space close to Pierce park. The committee has requested landowners near the park who would consent to its use for parking cars on July 4 get in touch with Mr. Langenberg.

A simple, yet effective method of watching and protecting the cars has been devised. A group of men will be in charge of each parking space to direct the drivers to their places, guard them while they are in the parking place and check them out when they leave.

Tickets which admit cars to the parking places will be sold in some convenient center. One stub of the ticket will be attached to the car and the other retained by the owner. Before the cars can leave the parking place they must be checked out by the attendant in charge in order to avoid shifting of identification cards from one machine to another. No one except owners or drivers of cars will be permitted in the parking place and even they will not be permitted to loiter on the grounds. Nothing may be removed from the cars while they are parked without permission of the attendants.

HEAR SCREEN STARS

Ridgewood, L. I. — Radio fans who are also movie lovers, are getting the treat of their lives from broadcasting station WHN, here.

They are hearing their favorite film stars by radio. In other words, a motion picture magazine is being broadcast to the movie-radio fans, three times a week. Every Monday, Thursday and Saturday evening, at 7:30, the fans tune in on WHN and listen in on what they usually read in movie magazines somewhat later.

The idea was conceived by Charles Reed Jones, formerly editor of a movie magazine, now in charge of this feature of the WHN program.

This new "Screen-Radio Magazine," like any other movie magazine, is devoted to news and personal gossip of the players, reviews of photoplays and interviews with the stars. These radio interviews, says Mr. Jones, are unique in the annals of interviewing. Here for the first time, a motion picture fan can hear an interview as it actually happens, rather than as it is related by the interviewer when he gets back to his typewriter.

Frequently at WHN the interviewer has never met his subject before the get-together at the broadcasting studio, and the resultant embarrassment adds to the amusement of the radio audience.

The Screen-Radio Magazine has a Question and Answer Department, too. Radio-movie fans, who are lo-

BEGIN SATURDAY TO TRIM STREETS

Appleton Will Be Mass Of Colors By Independence Day

Decoration of College-ave and the streets leading to Pierce park will be started in preparation for the huge Independence day celebration under auspices of Ony Johnson post of the American Legion. Contracts were closed some time ago with professional decorators who will arrive in Appleton the latter part of the week to do the work. College-ave will be decorated from Drew-st to Cherry-st and Cherry-st will be trimmed as far as the park. Elaborate decorations also will be placed in the park.

Several merchants have announced plans for trimming their store fronts and other merchants are arranging with the professional decorators to do the work. The decorating committee hopes to make Appleton a mass of red, white and blue on July 4.

Peter Goerl Has Charge Of Local Reservations For Frisco Gathering

American Legion members who wish to make reservations for the trip to the national convention of the organization in San Francisco in October may do so with Peter Goerl at once. It is expected that more than ten members of the Ony Johnson post will make the trip which includes not only the convention but 17 days of sightseeing through the most noted part of the west.

Arrangements are being made for a special Wisconsin train on the Milwaukee road, which has planned excellent service for the legion men. Any post or community which sends 25 or more members may make reservation for an entire car by itself. Two classes of sleepers will be provided, one for the single and the other for married couples and women.

Poison In Fireworks Is Source Of Danger

The danger of most fireworks does not only consist in the probability of their setting fire to property and maiming human bodies; they are usually poisonous as well. This reminder was received by Chief George T. Prim of the police department from the state industrial commission.

The commission has just had the University of Wisconsin make a chemical analysis of representative kinds of fireworks. The report held that the poison and explosive contents prohibited by statute.

"Section 4308 forbids the use of dynamite, picrates, or chlorate of potash, and Section 4601 makes it a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment to deliver any preparation containing poison to a child under 15 years unaccompanied by an adult," the commission points out.

"Wholesalers as well as retailers, are liable in case of injury to a child by the reason of the sale of contraband fireworks. The court held thus in the case of Pizzo vs. Wieman, 149 Wis. 235, which concerned the liability for the death of a child using a toy pistol. The court said, 'The original sale was the initiating cause to which all others tied naturally in proximate relation.'"

"The commission's orders apply only to the handling of fireworks within 200 feet of any building, but the above statute applies to fireworks anywhere, containing poison or prohibitive substances."

which have been analyzed and found poisonous are safety torpedoes, Japanese torpedoes, skyrockets, Roman candles and son-of-a-guns, all of which contain chlorate of potash. One type of barrel snake has mercuric sulphocyanate enough to kill ten adults; another snake specialty has enough of this same chemical to kill one adult. Another son-of-a-gun piece has enough yellow phosphorus to kill five adults.

PUMPING PLANT SETS NEW RECORD

More than 15,000,000 gallons of water was pumped through the city mains during the last seven days, according to the records at the water department pumping station. The average daily pumpage was 2,155,000 gallons. Sunday was the biggest day in the history of the plant, for 2,430,000 gallons was drawn out of the river and filtered. The past week has broken all records for pumping at the water plant. Indications are that the month of June will show a daily average of practically 2,000,000 gallons.

"Will you come to Wichita Falls and start a restaurant and make good things to eat, if I supply the money and the customers?"

"Will I?" The speaker's face had flushed, her eyes had begun to sparkle.

"Then it's a bargain," Gray declared, gravely. "Why, you'll get rich, for it's the chance of a lifetime. I'll guarantee patronage. I'll drum up trade if I have to turn sandwich man and ring a bell. Leave the details to me."

Margie Fulton sank slowly into the nearest chair, regardless of the fact that it was piled full of juicy, white, expensive things, her voice quavered, broke, as she said: "Mr. Gray, I figured there must be some decent men in the world, but I never thought I'd meet one."

CHAPTER XXIII
The Game Of Wits

A new strike in one of the western counties had become public, and a brand new oil excitement was born overnight. Trains were crowded, roads were impassable with racing automobiles, in the neighborhood of the new well ensued scenes to duplicate those of other pools. For the first week or two there was a frenzy of buying and selling, a speculation in oil acreage and town lots.

The Nelsons, of course, were early on the ground, for in spite of the father's contention that they could ill afford, at the moment, to tie up money in unproductive properties, the son had argued that they must have "protection," and his arguments had prevailed.

Now, oddly enough, this new oil discovery did not develop as had been expected—in fact, the excitement died out quickly—and when Henry Nelson undertook to dispose of his holdings he was faced by a heavy loss, for Gray was offering adjoining acreage at low prices.

Following this unhappy experience, the scandal about the Jackson well became public—the Atlantic Company having at last located the leak in its pipe line—and the whole Red River district enjoyed a great laugh.

Miss Parker, of course, was deeply chagrined at her connection with the fraud; nevertheless, the banker felt his flesh tingle cold at the narrowness of his escape.

About this time a big gasser blew in north of the Louisiana fields, and wise oil men began to talk about Arkansas and quietly to gather in acreage. Less than a week later one of Nelson's field men brought into the bank a youth who owned some property in the latter state. The youth was a sick man; he was thin and white; he had a racking cough, and he knew nothing about oil except from hearsay. All he knew was that he would die if he didn't get to a warmer, drier climate, but the story he told caused Henry Nelson to stare queerly at his field man. That very night the latter left town.

On the third night thereafter, in answer to a telegram, Nelson and the Arkansas farmer slipped unobtrusively out of Wichita Falls. It so happened that Erick Stoner, en route to Hot Springs for a little rest, was a passenger on the same train. Stoner returned in due time, much rested, and he brought with him a large check to the firm's account.

"We timed it to the minute," he told McWade and Mallow. "That gasser couldn't have come in better if we'd ordered it. Nelson's ducking under cover for more acreage near what he's got, but I tipped off who he was."

"He fell easy, eh?" Stoner grinned. "He was so pleased with himself at swindling an invalid, and so sacred somebody would discover these seepages that he could hardly wait to sign up. If it hadn't been for the general excitement, he might of insisted on time to do some exploring, but he's pulled a rig off another job and he's sending it right up."

"We've got some good news, too," McWade asserted. "Avenger Number One is trying hard to come in."

"No?"

"I tell you Gray's got a rabid foot. If we continue to trail along with him, I'll be losing you as a partner, Erick."

"How so?"

"Why, I'll be turning honest. It seems to pay."

"Um, probably I'd better keep all this Nelson money and leave you—"

"Oh, not at all," the junior partner said quickly. "That isn't an oil deal, strictly speaking, for you say there isn't oil enough in the land to grow a jackknife. I look on it as a real estate speculation."

With a laugh Stoner accepted this explanation, and then announced that he was hungry for his breakfast. This time Mallow spoke up. "I'm badly homesick for a new joint. Fulton's Fancy Waffle Foundry. Follow me and I'll try to waffle you. But you'll have to eat fast and pick your teeth on the sidewalk, for we need the room." In answer to Stoner's stare, the speaker explained his interest in the waffle of Wichita Falls' newest eating place, and on that note, he said, how, Margie Fulton came to be running it. Gray did it. He got the Parker girl to help us, and we had the place all fixed up by the time Margie got here. She's pink and, and it'll coin money, if it isn't punched."

"Punched?"

"Sure! Beulah's the cashier, and he palms everything from dimes to ashtrays! Force of habit! Better count your change till I break him, or short-changing the customers."

It was a blue day for Henry Nelson when Avenger Number One came in, for it made necessary immediate drilling operations on his part, and the worst of it was the well was not big enough to establish a high value for his holdings. It was just enough of a producer to force him to begin three offsets and that, for the moment, was an undertaking decidedly inconvenient.

Bell Nelson was even more dismayed at the prospect than was his son, for upon him fell the necessity of raising the money. "Hell of a note," the old fellow grumbled, "when a war will put a crimp in us! A little more good luck like this and we'll go broke."

"We can't afford to let go, or to sublease—"

"Of course not, after the stand we've taken. There's talk on the street about the bank, now, and I'd give a good deal to know where it comes from." The junior Nelson had heard similar echoes, but he held his tongue. "I never did like your way of doing business," the speaker resumed, fretfully. "We've overreached. You wanted it all and—this is the result."

Now Henry Nelson was warranted in resenting this accusation, for it had ever been Bell's way to pursue a grumping policy, therefore he cried, angrily:

"That's right; pass the buck. You know you wouldn't listen to anything else. If we're in deep, you're more to blame than I am."

"Nothing of the sort," Old Bell began a profane denial, but the younger man broke in, irritably:

"I've never won an argument with you, so have it your own way. But while you're raising money for the Avenger offsets, you'd better raise plenty, for Gary is going to punch holes as fast as ever he can."

"Who is this Gary? What's he got against you?"

"We didn't get along very well in France."

"Humph! I suppose that means you fought like hell. And now he's getting even. By the way, where am I going to get this money?"

"That is up to you," said Henry, with a disagreeable grin, whereupon his father stamped into his own office in a fine fury.

Not long after this father and son quarreled again, for of a sudden a perfect avalanche of lawsuits was released, the mysterious origin and purpose of which completely mystified Old Bell. The Nelsons, like everybody else, had unsuccessfully dabbled in oil stocks and drilling companies for some time before the boom started, also during its early stages, and most of those failures had been forgotten. They were painfully brought to mind, however, when Henry was served with a dozen or more citations, and when in inquiry elicited the reluctant admission from the bank's attorney that a genuine liability existed—a liability which included the entire debt of those defunct joint-stock associations in which he and his father had invested. This was enough to enrage a saint.

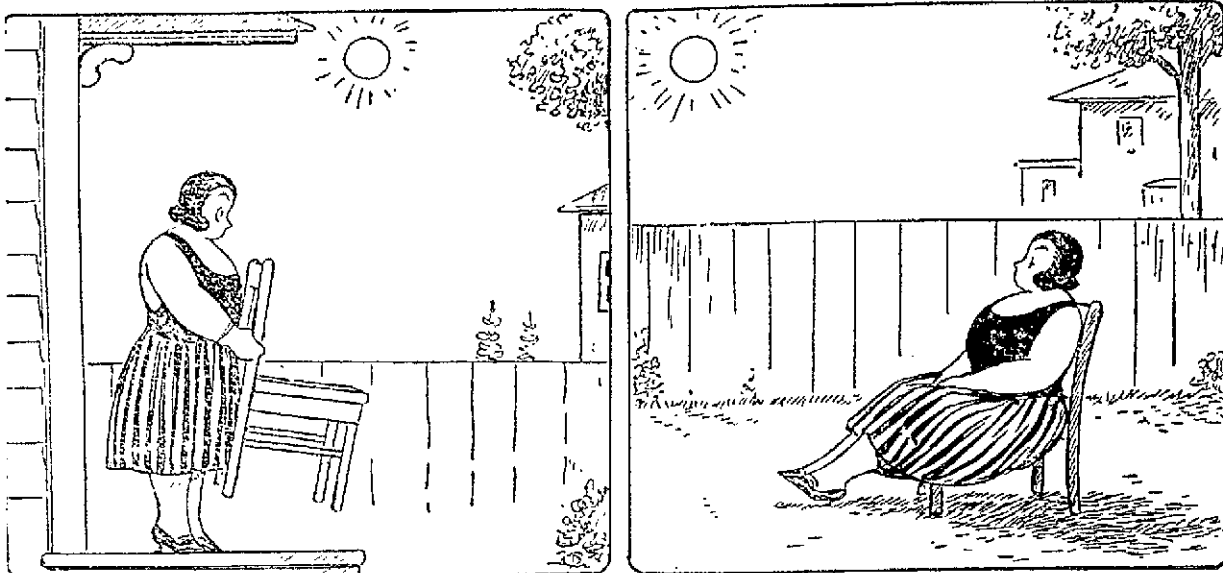

Henry argued that he had invariably signed those articles of association with the words in parentheses: "No personal liability," and he was genuinely amazed to learn that this precaution had been useless.

The driller he had sent up to Arkansas in charge of his run one day came into the office in great agitation. The man's story caused an employer's face to whiten.

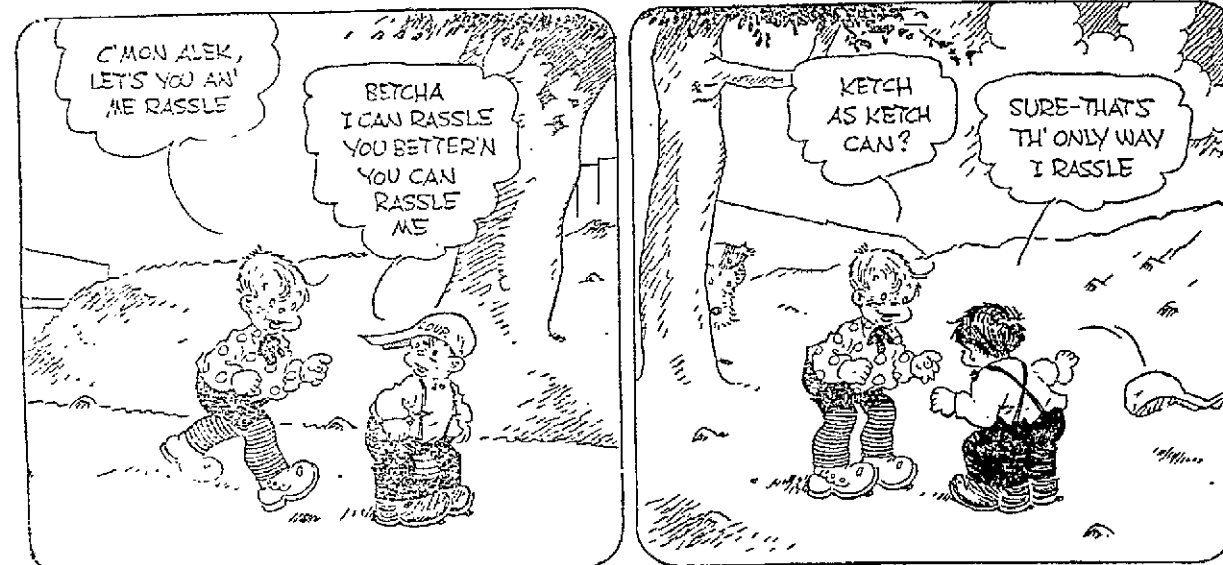

"Sailed! I—don't believe it," Nelson seized his head in his hands. "Oh, my God!" he gasped. "Mister, times were coming with a vengeance, incredible. Sailed! Utterly, utterly, the greener tenderfoot! A small fortune sunk while the whole country was still chuckling over the Jackson scandal! This was a nightmare."

Bacon Can Be Used In Many Desirable Ways

A dish that is good for breakfast, lunch or dinner is stuffed bacon slices. Of course this dish is really preferred for lunch or dinner and is best served with apple sauce. Tartar sauce or a cream sauce may be used if desired.

Select a good grade of bacon which will have just the right proportion of fat and lean.

STUFFED BACON SLICES
Preparation 30 minutes. Serves five. Fifteen slices of bacon, two and one-half cups of bread crumbs. Method: Make a moist bread dressing. Place one heaping teaspoonful on the end of a slice of bacon; roll the bacon slice around the dressing and fasten with a toothpick on a small skewer. Broil, turning frequently to brown on all sides or fry in pan, turning to cook evenly on all sides and basting with the drippings.

There are hundreds of women who seem to have the idea it is not good form to serve bacon excepting fried with eggs. It is best when broiled, even though served in the good old way with fried eggs. But once the housewife tries the good old standby in some of its various uses, she will find that there is no need for monotony in her menu.

Bacon is easily digested and assimilated and furnishes the body with tissue builder and fat to store.

BACON OMELET
Broil or fry bacon until crisp, break it up in fine dice and add to it two well beaten eggs. Add two table-spoons of milk and a bit of salt and paprika. Have omelet pan hot and brushed with pure leaf lard or bacon drippings. Pour in the mixture, cover, lower heat and let brown on one side. Roll the omelet and turn onto a hot platter. Garnish with grape jelly.

PEAS WITH BACON
Dice crisp pieces of bacon and add to canned peas which are to be served with a white sauce. A few diced carrots are a desirable addition to this vegetable.

When serving canned peas with a white sauce save the liquid off the peas for soup. It contains the mineral salts which supply material for bones and teeth.

OYSTERS AND BACON
Roll a piece of thin sliced bacon around an oyster, secure with a toothpick. Broil until bacon is crisp. Serve on hot dish garnished with quartered lemon and parsley. Canned tomato soup, just as it comes, is delicious served with these.

TOASTED BACON SANDWICH
Break one egg and beat until light and foamy. Add as much grated cheese as the egg will hold. Season with paprika and Worcestershire sauce. Spread on two slices of bread and on the top slice place two thin slices of bacon, placing under a low flame until the bacon becomes crisp and brown. Serve immediately.

FASHION HINTS

ALPACA FASHIONABLE
Alpaca, besides being a very fashionable material for coats and sport costumes, is also very practical. It does not wrinkle and sheds dust better than any other fabric. It is the ideal material to wear while traveling.

SILVER CLOTH
A gown of silver cloth, on slender, draped lines, is strewn with tiny flowers or silk appliqued in coarse silk threads.

ORGANDIE PUFFS
Puffs of white organdie or georgette peep from beneath the three-quarter length sleeves of tailored dresses of silk and wool.

NOVELTY UMBRELLA
A novelty for the summer resort is a red cotton umbrella bound with black, white and red and equipped with a short thick handle of black.

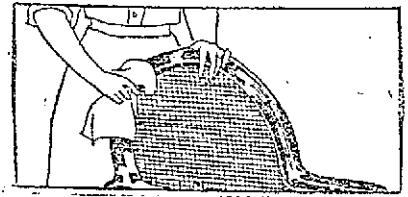

LACE FANS
Replacing the elaborate feather fans are those of black lace mounted on ivory sticks and dotted over with dim sequins or brilliants.

Australian coal is about 3 per cent water.

Household Suggestions

PACKING BOOKS
When moving, pack your books in small bundles rather than in large wooden boxes. They will be much easier to handle.

DUSTLESS DUSTER
Saturate a piece of cheesecloth in kerosene and hang it in the sunlight to dry. You will have an excellent dustless duster.

KEEP HANDS SOFT
Washing your hands in milk or buttermilk each evening is one way to keep the devastating effects of housework from showing on them.

FRUIT JARS
Before using fruit jars that have been standing around empty, sterilize them thoroughly by boiling in soda water.

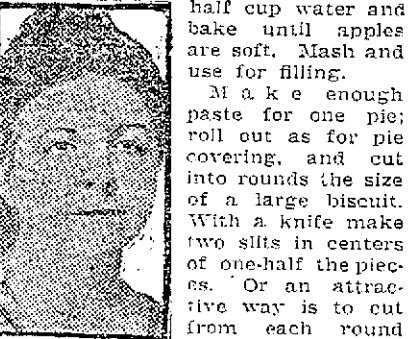

BUG EXTERMINATOR
Scorched egg shells sprinkled on the pantry shelf will keep away the bugs.

TESTED RECIPES

APPLE PUFFS
By Bertha E. Shapleigh
Pare, core and cut into small pieces, six apples. Add one-half cup of brown sugar, a few grains of salt, one half cup water and bake until apples are soft. Mash and use for filling.

At a k enough paste for one pie; roll out as for pie covering, and cut into rounds the size of a large biscuit. With a knife make two slits in centers of one-half the pieces. Or an attractive way is to cut from each round three small pieces the size of a thumbnail.

On the remaining pieces place the apple sauce, having it piled in the centers and not coming too near the edges. Wet the edges with cold water, cover with the pieces from which the pieces have been cut, press edges firmly together, and place in a hot oven. Cook twenty minutes. Reduce heat after ten minutes to prevent too much color.

These are very nice to carry in an automobile lunch or on a picnic.

QUOTAS NOT FILLED FOR ONAWAY GIRLS' CAMPS

According to the reservations which have been received at Appleton Women's clubroom for camp fire girls and girl scouts, 59 from these two organizations will camp at Onaway island, near Waupaca, from Aug. 3 to 11, while 37 will camp the week following. The capacity of the camp is 70, so that 11 more girls can be accommodated the first week. As soon as all camp fire and girl scout reservations are in, girls of "teen" age outside these organizations will be allowed to register for the camp.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-COTT TO HER MOTHER, MRS. JOHN GRAVES HAMILTON:

Mother dear, you will never know how relieved I was when I got your wire and when your letter came enclosing twelve hundred dollars instead of a thousand. I just sat down and wept for sheer joy.

I bought a perfectly gorgeous bedroom set for seven hundred dollars and used up the other five for all the little things I could think of in the way of kitchen utensils, little tables about my room and, among other things, a gorgeous smoking set, an easy chair and a floor reading lamp for Jack.

Just before your wire came I got a letter from the James Realty Company and what do you think the mean things did? They sent me the lease which I had already signed with a polite invitation for Jack to sign it.

Now I'll have to tell him the whole story and I know he is going to be mad because last night he was telling me of some friends of ours who had gone to housekeeping in an apartment just a block from us for which they were paying two hundred dollars a month.

"I predict," said Jack, "there will be a smash up in that family before long. No man can buck against an extravagant wife."

You know, Mother, I cannot understand Jack. He almost seems a stranger to me at times. He is so different from what he was before we were married.

Then I used to remonstrate with him for his extravagance in sending me such wonderful flowers and always taking me in a taxi when we could just as well have gone in his roadster, but he insisted that when I was in my evening dress I should have a closed car.

Now it seems to me he does nothing else but talk economy and he has more than once been nagging me for spending all the money on the apartment and not giving him any to pay on his stock. I just wonder what he would say if he knew that I had had to have so much more money from you.

You are absolutely right, dear Mother, in saying that I must not think you will keep helping me out if I get into money troubles. I know very well I must stand on my own feet and now that I have the house furnished and ready to show it to Jack, I am going to live absolutely within my income.

Karl Whitney called on me the day I got your wire and I took him over to the apartment. He acted rather queer and sad like but he said the place was perfectly beautiful; that he never had known I had such taste. Wasn't that nice of him?

He told me you all were very well and said that he was having a lot of amusement out of Alice and her quaint ways.

You don't suppose Alice is trying to flirt with him, do you, Mother? He is years too old for her, you know. Please let me thank you and dad for all your kindness to me. I never appreciated it so much as I do now.

Kiss dad for me on the top of his bald head and tell him I love you both always.

Art Still Has Stronghold In Jazzy Gotham

BY MARIAN HALE

New York—Jazz, conqueror of the modern era, may give up the notion of gaining complete sway over the populace.

For so long as there is art and literature, there will remain many of the old school even in wicked New York who care more for these than for cocktails and trombones.

One of the strongholds of this old school is Miss Anne Forsyth Miner's unique book and handicraft salon. This is a fast growing club with artistic, social and commercial ambitions. Its headquarters is Miss Miner's charming, roomy apartment, right off Fifth avenue in the most fashionable section of New York.

One of its aims is to give the author and his readers a chance to meet.

BOOK LUNCHEONS

"Obviously an author cannot go out in the highways and byways and urge people to read his books. But he should have a chance to be heard, we think," Miss Miner explained to me.

"So we have weekly book review luncheons to which we invite a publisher to send us one of his best authors for a talk. We also ask the publisher to send a consignment of his books so the members may purchase them afterward if they wish. People are always more interested in an author after they have heard him talk."

But this is not all. From literature it is a mere step to handicrafts. Those who make beautiful things with their hands should be able to put them before those who will appreciate them.

"So artists are encouraged to bring their pictures, needleworkers their handwork and culinary artists their

NOVELTIES ONLY

"Naturally we accept only the exceptional, for there would be no object in promoting those things already sold in other shops. We take orders for table linens, lingerie and all things needed for the home."

Children are not overlooked at the salon. They have a special corner in one room piled with attractively bound books, and every Saturday morning entertainments are provided for them showing national costumes, songs, games and folklore of other lands.

"We hope to make the salon a center for those interested in any art," Miss Miner concluded. "Our aim to fill a social, intellectual and cultured need."

DODGE BROTHERS TOURING CAR

If there is one word which will sum up the average owner's impression of Dodge Brothers Touring Car, that word is dependable.

If there is a word to express the quality which Dodge Brothers have striven, above all else, to build into the Touring Car, it is—again—dependable.

Indeed, it is not too much to say that the word dependable has come to be definitely associated, the nation over, with Dodge Brothers Touring Car—and the other vehicles bearing their name.

Nor have Dodge Brothers built this enviable reputation through advertising. They have built motor cars, so dependable in fact that the word has presented itself automatically to the public mind.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

Raggy Land
The next place the Twins visited on their adventures was the Land of the Raggies.

What! Never heard of the Raggies? Well, well, well! That's strange. But then! Nancy and Nick had never heard of them, either until an accident happened one day. If it hadn't been for that I don't suppose they ever—

Goodness alive! There I go again, always getting off the subject.

It was this way: The Fairy Queen sent for the Twins to take a message to Mr. Ting-along the little fairy landlord of Whispering Forest. It was about reducing the rents of the Forest Folk on May Day.

Well, Nancy and Nick were going along, not thinking of a thing, when suddenly Nick's sharp eyes saw some smoke coming out of a hollow stump. "Look, Nancy!" he whispered, talking her hand and pointing. "Somebody's been having a fire."

'Y' NET PLAYERS
TAKE 6 STRAIGHT
SETS FROM OSHKOSH

Local Players Defeat Visitors In Every Game Of Saturday's Match

That the Appleton "Y" tennis team is probably the strongest group of net artists that has ever represented Appleton, was proved last Saturday when the squad took the strong Oshkosh Tennis Club quarter into camp, to the tune of 6 matches to none.

Several of the matches were thrillingly close. The two most closely contested tilts involved Walter Heideman and Clayton Rector. The dusky-hued little basketball star overcame a 4-6 deficit in the first set by breaking through the second and third sets, 6-0, 7-5. This led has great possibilities. He strokes the ball well, and has a fast-rate temperament for playing a high-grade game.

Rector almost sent his opponent to the hospital. At any rate, he wore him out so completely that when the latter took to the doubles court with his partner, they proved easy for Heber Pelkey and A. R. Hinkley.

Paul Seillon was in his usual artistic stroke, and his opponent never had a chance. Al Bradford and Heber Pelkey were not sufficiently energetic to give a line on their present competitive form, but they, too, were stroking the ball excellently, and form two important units in the team.

The team will play a return match at Oshkosh a week from next Saturday. Negotiations are now under way for a match with some Fox river valley team for the "Y" courts on the morning of July 1.

Saturday's results:

Walter Heideman and Al Bradford, Appleton, defeated F. W. Rockwell and Herb Witzel, Oshkosh, 10-6 and 6-0.

A. R. Hinkley and Heber Pelkey, Appleton, defeated Ted Lauritzen and Bill Findelsen, Oshkosh, 6-1, 6-1.

In the singles matches, Clayton Rector of Appleton defeated Lauritzen of Oshkosh, 7-5, 6-8, and 6-2; Pelkey, Appleton, defeated Findelsen, Oshkosh, 9-7, and 6-2; Paul Seillon, Appleton, defeated Witzel, Oshkosh, 6-2, and 6-2; and Heideman, Appleton, defeated Rockwell, Oshkosh, 6-0, and 7-5, losing the first set to the Oshkosh man, 4-6.

BRUINS LOSE 6-5
TO CINCINNATI IN
HOMERUN CONTEST

Yankees Beat Boston, 14-6.
When Bambino Returns
From Long Sleep

By Associated Press
Chicago, Ill.—The National league worm turned Monday but made little progress. It meant that Philadelphia the lowest centipede in the major leagues, came within an ace of defeating New York, which ran its string of victories to seven, 11 to 10, and that Boston, after dropping a series to the Giants, smote Brooklyn 7 to 4. Jess Barnes finally won a game for his new mates.

Cincinnati came back at Chicago, 6 to 5, in a battle of home runs, four being made, but made no progress as Pittsburgh again beat St. Louis, 3 to 1. Fred Toney was in uniform apparently, pacified after his tilt with his team mate, Toporover.

Babe Ruth rejoined his team mates, clearing up his mysterious absence at Sunday's exhibition game at New Haven with the school boy's excuse that he overslept, and the Yankees beat Boston, 14 to 6. They needed to as Philadelphia came to life after Connie Mack shook up the infield, and defeated Washington, 3 to 0.

Both Chicago and St. Louis advanced, the White Sox stepping on the tail of the Tiger by downing Detroit, 7 to 1, while the Browns chased the Indians off the war path, 9 to 4. St. Louis stopped Guy Morton's string of 21 consecutive hitless innings by knocking him from the box.

Charles Robertson, pitcher of perfect game fame, has been suspended by the Chicago White Sox for indifferent pitching.

Manager Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians was banished from the game when he insisted too strenuously that Dave Danforth of the St. Louis Browns was "doctoring" the ball.

Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics juggled his lineup and beat the Washington Senators, 7 to 2. Brugg, who had been playing first, went behind the plate, pitcher Heimach played first base, and Riccarda was sent to third base. The new combination worked well.

Eddie Collins, White Sox second sacker, stole his twenty-fifth base against the Tigers.

Mike O'Neill of the Boston Braves, who has announced that he is retiring from the game and would enter business, reconsidered and joined his former team mates.

Dauss Breaks His Jinx

GEORGE DAUSS

BY BILLY EVANS
Is Dame Fortune about to smile on George Dauss late in his pitching career?

George Dauss for years has been a member of the Detroit staff of the American League. His pitching efforts have met with varying success. Never has he quite reached the heights of stardom.

I have always regarded Dauss as one of the best pitchers in the American league. Perhaps no man connected with the game is in a better position to judge the worth of a pitcher than the umpire. Likewise no one is better fitted to make comparisons.

To me George Dauss has always been a great pitcher. In baseball one is always judged on results. In the record book for a pitcher to attain the realms of stardom he must be a consistent winner. Dauss has never been a consistent pitcher.

BATTERS FEAR DAUSS
Another way to get a line on a pitcher's effectiveness is to get the opinion of the opposing batters. American League players will tell you that Dauss has as much stuff as any pitcher in the league and a much better curve ball than a majority. In addition most of them will tell you that they do not like to hit against Dauss.

That admission in itself is the best line one could possibly get on a pitcher. When opposing batters admit his style of delivery is such they do not relish facing him, immediately the pitcher secures a decided advantage.

There you have the status of George Dauss. With little or no pitching motion his ball is on the batter quickly. This has a tendency to throw the batsman off his stride and make it a much more difficult matter to correctly time the speed of the ball.

GETTING THE BREAKS
Dauss has seldom been an early starter. Usually he has had his trouble getting off to a winning start. This looks to be the big year for Dauss.

In his first five starts he has been returned the victor. In each game he has pitched good ball, the brand that deserves to win but doesn't always come out that way.

In every game the breaks have been with George. Instead of frowning on him, as in the past, Dame Fortune has smiled on him most graciously.

Dauss is a great pitcher, deserving of several big years before he passes from the big show.

RAZOR TROPHIES
AT GUN TOURNAY
HERE ON SUNDAY

Sixth Annual Registered Shoot
Of Gun Club Scheduled
For July 1

Seven razors, in addition to money prizes, will be awarded to winners in the sixth annual registered shoot of Appleton Angling and Shooting club at the club's park on Sunday, July 1. This is the second registered shoot of the season. Six single events of 25 targets each, and one double event of 25 pairs of targets are on the program. The entrance fee in each event is $2.

The high gun in each event in the singles will be given a choice between two well known safety razors. The high gun among the women shooters is to receive a leather bound tourists writing set. A gold safety razor will go to the high gun among members of the local club. Rules provide that a minimum of 100 targets must be fired to be eligible for the trophies.

A gold safety razor is the prize in the doubles event. Shooting will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and American Trapshooting association rules will govern the contest.

Puzzling
Play's
By Billy Evans

THE PLAY
Batter hits ball on ground down the first base line. The ball is two or three feet foul and the umpire, believing that it will remain in foul territory, calls, "Foul ball."

Just before reaching first base, the ball either takes a curve or strikes something that cause it to roll in, and it finally stops on fair ground just before passing third base.

It is apparent to everybody, the umpire included, that the hit is a fair ball. The umpire had previously ruled it a foul ball. When he so ruled the batsman stopped running as did the other baserunners, there being men on second and third at the time. Should the umpire change his ruling to fair ball, hold to his original ruling of foul ball?

THE INTERPRETATION
The umpire erred in calling the play too soon. He should have waited until the ball came to rest.

The umpire in calling the ball foul, suspended play, since the batsman who hit the ball stopped running, as did the other runners who were moving up on the hit.

During the baseball season umpires call a fair ball that the crowd believe is foul and vice versa. In the case stated it was apparent the umpire had erred in calling the ball foul, yet there was nothing for him to do but stick to his original position.

After having suspended play by calling the ball foul, it would have been manifestly unfair to the team at bat to change to fair ball, and permit the batsman to be retired.

In all fairness the umpire in such a case should stick to his first ruling, foul ball, even though the world knew it was fair.

Two players in match game are using the same kind of ball. One player has marked his ball slightly so as to be able to distinguish between the two. On reaching the green, players are in doubt as to their balls. Is it permissible for a player to lift one of the balls in order to search for the mark that he had placed on his ball?

Great care should always be used as to playing the proper ball. If impossible to determine which is your ball without picking up one of the two, you must ask your companion for his consent before picking up the ball, and must replace it carefully where it lay.

If a player is in doubt as to the direction of play may he ask advice? A player has the right to ask for advice if in doubt as to the direction of play. His caddy is usually able to give the proper direction. In big match players are very particular about their caddies and often talk over shots with them before playing.

END OF SATURDAY
GAMES RELEASES
STOCK FROM STAFF

Contract Of Local Pitching Ace
Expires When Weekday
Games Stop

The last of the Saturday games was played last week, and Harvey Stock, engaged by the Appleton magnates to pitch for the half-holiday games has been released. That is, he has been released from the regular staff of the team, but will pitch occasionally, as his services may be required. He has been doing excellent work for the Papermakers, and is hard to beat when in form. The cold weather early in the season had a deleterious effect upon his salary wing on one or two occasions, but that is common to most pitchers.

Lathrop, while he has been signed for the rest of the season, may be forced to leave the club, according to Magistrate Miller and Sylvester, as the salary he commands is rather high for the crowds the games have been drawing recently. The owners say it is impossible to pay the whole team out of the present small gate receipts.

Rumors regarding the return of Mudraff to the Brautigans have been definitely quashed by "Dutch" Sylvester, who states that although some members of the team have been in communication with the former Appleton player, no attempt has been made to get him to return, nor has he made overtures to be taken into the Appleton fold again.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

The race for the hunting in the Wisconsin State league is a corker. Appleton's double win over the weekend coupled with Green Bay's upset has put the Brautigans right on the heels of the Lynchemen. All the other clubs with the exception of Fond du Lac are closely bunched and, although the season is about half completed no team in the McGillan circuit has the pennant sewed up.

About once every year, Billy Leibl gets back in harness Saturday he put on the spiked shoes again for his Chairmakers in the Neesh-Menashu game and performed in good shape around the redlight bag. The next thing we know, Bobby Lynch will be breaking into the Bay line up as a pinch hitter. He might have been used to good advantage in Sunday's game in that ninth inning when any kind of a bludge might have changed defeat into a victory.

Joe Reik has sung his swan song in the Wisconsin State league. The home run sweater, who guarded the left garden for Green Bay, has been put on the suspended list. Reik took "French leave" of the Bay management without even saying a word and until he makes his peace with the Lynchemen executives, he can't play in the State loop. The former Bayite is now doing his baseball for the Nash Motors of Kenosha in the Mid-West Industrial wheel.

It is getting to be quite a habit these days for the American Association clubs to take "picks" on the Milwaukee Brewers and the other day in the Cream City, the Kansas City Blues ran true to form. They slipped a pair of defects over on the Clarkmen, scoring 17 runs in each game. And yet some of the fans in this neck of the woods complain about the "bush league" exhibitions in the State circuit.

The Giants have recovered from their slump and they again look like a sure bet in the National league flag race. McGraw's hipplings, playing in their own back yard at the Polo Grounds seemed to have found themselves and the club that beats them these days has to play a super brand of the diamond article.

Prominent Lake End Bugs Sign
Petition Objecting To Jap's
Management

When Brautigan takes his rising stars to Fond du Lac next Sunday, he may find himself and his outfit pitted against a team with a new field manager, for it is reported that a petition has been in circulation in Fond du Lac protesting against Jap Barbeau's slowing up, and that this petition has been signed by numerous prominent fans.

The Papermakers have been steadily rising of late, and now are only half a game behind Green Bay in the fight for the top of the State ladder. Their frequent defeats of the early part of the season appear to have been chiefly due to the lack of good pitching talent, for now that Elg Bill Lathrop is on the mound, aided and abetted by Harvey Stock upon occasion, the Appleton tribe is steadily climbing in the league, and has excellent chance to get an attic billet in the next game or two.

MARQUETTE ALUMNI
MAKE WAY FOR GAME

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Believing that the Marquette university of Milwaukee of Vermont football game in Milwaukee on Thanksgiving day, 1922, is the best local drawing card on the season's schedule, alumni of Marquette have chosen Nov. 23 as the date of their annual homecoming. In the last few years, the reunion has been held earlier in the month. With many of the students out of the city on account of Thanksgiving holidays, it is probable that alumni features will predominate more than they have in the past.

Jersey City, N. J.—The New Jersey boxing commission on Monday put its official stamp of approval upon the heavyweight match of July 12 between Jess Willard, former champion, and Luis Angel Firpo, giant from the Argentine, after Willard had passed a special physical examination to determine his fitness as an opponent for the South American.

Three physicians engaged by the boxing commission subjected the big Kansas to a searching examination that lasted forty-five minutes, after which they signed a brief statement declaring him to be "free from any physical defects."

Willard was characterized as a remarkable physical specimen in every respect by Dr. H. J. Lemmerz, at whose office the examination was conducted in the presence of newspaper men and photographers.

The Hortonville baseball team defeated the visiting crew of the Wisconsin Telephone company, 11 to 0, at Hortonville Sunday. The game was a comedy of errors on the part of the Telephones, whose pitcher, Brooks, might go far with better fielding support. New York—Babe Ruth faced a fine and possible suspension according to reports from Boston, for his failure to appear in the lineup of the New York Yankees at an exhibition game Sunday with the New Haven club of the Eastern league. His absence cost the Yankees about $2,000, which the New Haven club has announced will be refunded to disappointed fans. The mysterious disappearance of the Yankee slugger, who has heaved to the straight and narrow path since he made his famous pledge to the "kids" last fall, was unexplained, so far as club officials here were concerned.

RAINBOW CHAPTER TO OPEN $500 FUND

Appleton Will Be Only City In

Wisconsin Visited By French General

The Rainbow division war veterans of Appleton Monday evening backed their invitation to have General Gouraud visit Appleton this summer by authorizing the issuance of a check for $500 toward the French general's expenses in coming to America.

The local subchapter had been informed in advance by the national Rainbow headquarters that Wisconsin's quota would be $500, if it desired a visit by the famous character of the World war. It now appears that Appleton will be the only Wisconsin city visited during Gouraud's trip. He will be the central figure

A committee was appointed Monday evening to arrange for Gouraud's reception in Appleton. It consists of Maj. Lothar Graef, L. Hugo Keller, August Arens, John Hantschel and Robert Terkel. The committee was requested to give Gouraud a special reception on the date of the general visit. It is understood that he will come from Chicago to Neenah in a special car on the Soo Line.

Thus for 15 Rainbow men have announced their intention of making a special trip to Appleton to attend the national meeting. The trip will be made by automobile, but those who might desire to go by train and stay only over Sunday may have the advantage of one and a half fare. Second, return Hantschel has received ten identification certificates which can be used for that purpose. The round-trip fare is slightly over $20.
